NNOCCI is committed to understanding and deconstructing barriers that people & organizations may be facing due to systematic oppression, discrimination and economic hardship. Financial resources should not be a determining factor in whether or not someone can access our services. As such, to reduce financial stress for participants, we offer a sliding scale for our training programs. While we are not able to accommodate all requests, in order to ensure compensation for training facilitators, we will do our best to support all participants in engaging in NNOCCI resources.
